Two Districts To Face Arbitration In Dispute

Demands for wage increases presented by teachers in Saanich and Sanderson School Districts are going to arbitration.

In both districts the demands went to a conciliation board without any agreement being reached.

The arbitration board will consist in each case of a member appointed by the teachers, another named by the school board and a chairman appointed by the two members. Findings of the arbitration board are binding on both parties.

Original increases sought were more than 25 per cent. These have been pared down, but the recommendation of seven per cent proposed for Saanich proved unacceptable to the board.

DEPARTMENT DECLINES TO ASSIST ISLAND STUDENTS

—In Outer Islands

Department of education will not assist in transportation costs faced by islanders whose children are required to attend high school on another island. Not only would the cost to the department of education be prohibitive, but other communities would seek the same aid if a precedent were established, an island delegation was advised.

Mrs. Elmer Bowerman, chairman of the education committee of the Pender Island Chamber of Commerce, and W. L. Shirley, chairman of transportation, met with the Hon. Leslie Peterson, minister of education, in Victoria last week, on behalf of high school students in Gulf Islands Consolidated School District No. 64, whose homes are not on Saanich Island.

The minister was sympathetic to their problem, which, specifically, is to gain sufficient grant to enable all Pender, Mayne, Galiano, and Saturna students high school attendance at Ganges. He said, however, that he was unable to increase the grant at this time. He said the funds would require inclusion in next year's education budget, and would embrace a sizable sum, to include similar requests which might be made from all sections of B.C. where transportation presented a difficulty.

The delegates contended parents of students living off Salt Spring were often forced to deny their children the advantages of high school attendance, although paying the same school taxes as parents of children resident on Salt Spring. Parents now receive $20 per month from the department and $5 per month from the school board, for each high school student. Board and room at Ganges is $60 per 20-day month, and transportation by ferry to and from home week-ends amounts to another two or three dollars a month. Parents with two or more children in high school find the cost a great burden, and in many cases, prohibitive, the delegates said.

Mrs. Peterson promised to give the matter considerable study, but suggested that there was one course open now—to appeal to the school board for more aid. He said it was quite within the power of the school board to increase aid to parents in a consolidated district who were faced with such transportation difficulties.

The matter will be considered at the next council meeting of the Pender chamber.

No Election For Saanich District

Ratepayers of North Saanich have rejected a proposal whereby trustees for the district would be elected by an election at large.

On Monday evening a crowded meeting endorsed the motion of G. M. Owen that the elections be staged by public meeting and not by the customary balloting throughout the area.

"This type of election appears to suit the area," contended Mr. Owen. He was supported by nearly 30 voters while nine opposed the plan.

The school board is required to gain permission each year to hold the election by such a meeting.

Building Permits At $15,300

Ten building permits were issued in the North Saanich Community Planning Area for the month of October to the total value of $15,300.

Six permits were issued for the installation of plumbing and septic tanks. Largest individual permit was for the building of a dwelling valued at $10,000. Other permits were issued in respect of carports, garage and additions.

Former Review Correspondent Listens For C.P.R. Whistle

Native daughter of Saturna Island, Mrs. Dorothy Richardson has spent many years listening to the call of the C.P.R. ferry vessels as they plied between her home and the mainland. As an adult she spent many years in various communities which still depended on the C.P.R. ferries for communication with the outside.

Today Mrs. Richardson makes her home in the Sidney district and takes but a passive interest in her ferry services that were once her lifeline.

Years ago Mrs. Richardson wrote regularly for The Review as Saturna Island correspondent. Today she is content to read The Review and let others write the news of the island communities.

Mrs. Richardson, now a teacher at McTavish Road school, was born on the island of Saturna in 1903. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Payne, operated a farm and a small mill. His brothers, Harold Payne and Rev. Canon Herbert Payne, also had farms on the island.

The McTavish teacher together with her sisters, Mrs. F. C. Adams, Mrs. J. F. Dick, and brother, Capt. John Payne, spent their early school days without a school, but were

Two Candidates For Council

MRS. M. E. ROBERTS

A. W. FREEMAN

Election in Sidney village is not yet assured as only two candidates have appeared to seek the two seats falling vacant and one candidate has been named for the chair.

In the running are Mrs. M. E. Roberts and Arthur Freeman. Seeking re-election is Chairman Dr. C. H. Freemans. Commissioner J. E. Bosher has already signified his intention of seeking no further term of office. Commissioner Joe Bilgeri has announced no plans.

Native Of District Seeks Seat

Mrs. Roberts is a native daughter of North Saanich. She is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. Horth, who owned property including that now occupied by Patricia Bay Airport.

For a number of years Mrs. Roberts was engaged in business in Sidney. She assumed the reins of her husband's real estate and insurance company upon his death.

After many years of successful operation of the business, she retired to Sidney, selling her interests to Gordon Hulme.

The candidate for village office was educated at North Saanich school. For many years she was identified with many activities in the community.

Mrs. Roberts has one son, Louis, an engineer who resides with his family in Toronto.

Community Worker Is Candidate

Candidate in the forthcoming village election, Arthur W. Freeman enters the political arena for the first time as he offers himself as a commissioner. He will seek one of the seats being vacated by Commissioners J. Bilgeri and J. Bosher, whose terms expire this year.

Prior to his arrival in Sidney Mr. Freeman was general manager of a firm of retail grocers in the Old Country and spent most of his time travelling throughout the southern part of England. A veteran of World War II he saw active service with the R.A.F. in Britain, France and Germany.

He has taken an active interest in local affairs since coming to the area and is at present a member of the Sidney Recreation Committee, secretary of the committee of stewards of the United Church and an executive member of the Sidney Ratepayers' Association. He is associated with A. D. Richardson of Vancouver as a representative covering Vancouver Island in the confectionery trade.

Mr. and Mrs. Freeman are actively interested in both Sidney and North Saanich high school P.T.A.'s, having two sons, Graham, who attends North Saanich and Barry, who is a pupil at Sidney elementary school.

AFTER 72 YEARS HE GOES TO WORK

Today, November 18, 1959, is a red-letter day in the long life of Reeve H. Rupert Brown of Central Saanich.

Exactly 72 years ago today, the Reeve was born in a log cabin near Duncan.

Looking hale and hearty, the Central Saanich municipal head observed his birthday by attending at his office as usual.

Trustees Concerned At Hazard Faced On Water

Trustees of Salt Spring School District are concerned at the hazards facing boatmen who are called on to travel between the islands.

Trustee A. D. Dane has announced his intention of bringing in a special resolution in this regard at the December meeting.

In the meantime the board has approved payments to Chairman George Heinekey and Secretary-Treasurer C. N. Peterson in compensation for property lost when their cruiser foundered recently en route to the outer islands.

ENGINEER'S REPORT ON SAANICH WATER THROWS LIGHT ON SOURCES AVAILABLE

By HUGH NASMITH

GROUND-WATER

Ground-water occurs in a variety of ways within the area. The largest reservoir is in the sands and gravels making up the ridge which extends from Cordova Bay to Saanich, but supplies of water are also obtained from sands and gravels along what appears to be raised benches, from fractures in bedrock both at the surface and at considerable depths, from thin layers of gravel capped by a considerable thickness of clay, and from lenses of sand contained in otherwise impervious glacial till.

The quantity of water which a well in any of these situations will supply depends on the ability of the water-bearing formation to transmit water to the well and on

New Park Donated At Fulford

Donation of a piece of waterfront property at the head of Fulford Harbor for a picnic site, has been made by Walter Few.

The Hon. Earle Westwood, minister of recreation and conservation, was on Salt Spring Island last week and he looked the site at Fulford over.

Survey work is being done by A. W. Wolfe-Miller, but it will be a few months before all arrangements can be made.

The picnic site will be Class C and will be run by a board of trustees. It incorporates a pleasant beach and will be among the finest parks of its kind in the province.

Water Craft Feel Brunt Of Storm

First wintry spell followed Remembrance Day throughout the district as east winds at gale force brought bitter temperatures and storm damage over the week-end.

Storm damage in the Sidney area was mostly confined to fishing vessels and small boats still remaining in the water.

The cold wave accompanied by high winds resulted in one fishing gillnetter being run aground in Roberts Bay while another caught fire and sustained damage estimated at $7,000. At the small boat wharf at the foot of Beacon Ave. another gillnetter, FP 6498 ran aground at the base of the wharf and a pleasure craft owned by Norman and Pleasure received considerable damage as the result of rubbing along one side of the craft.

EASY LANDING

The Washington State ferry had no difficulty landing in the middle of the storm and kept schedule through the rough seas.

A power pole broke at Patricia Bay airport and crews carried out repairs while the stand-by power station carried uninterrupted service to the airport. Planes operated to schedule despite the conditions.

Service stations reported a busy day Saturday with brisk sales of anti-freeze and several cold batteries required cars to be pushed.

R.C.M.P. had no reports of damage over the week-end.

Reeve Brown Defends Policy Of Refusing Remuneration

An eloquent plea for support of the Central Saanich water by-law at the polls on December 17 was voiced by Reeve H. Rupert Brown in an address to members of Sidney and North Saanich Chamber of Commerce in Hotel Sidney on Tuesday evening of this week. The occasion was the annual meeting of the chamber and attendance was impressive.

The Reeve spoke briefly of the steady growth of the municipality in recent years. He stressed the fact that councillors receive no remuneration. "It would not be right for us to accept remuneration when our volunteer firemen do not. They rise at all hours of the night and really do more work than we do," he declared.

The municipal head proudly proclaimed the fact that as from last Friday the municipality was completely out of debt with the exception of normal bank indebtedness.

SKATING ON SUNDAYS

New recreation feature has been established in Sidney. SANSCHIA hall will be open on Sunday afternoons for adult skating. This includes all roller skaters beyond the maximum age for Saturday's juvenile skaters.

A skating club is planned and this unit will be responsible for the running of the Sunday skating sessions.

Attendance Marks Record At Annual School Meeting

—Near 100 Hear By-law Report

Library of North Saanich high school was packed on Monday evening when nearly 100 ratepayers attended the annual meeting of the Saanich School District in North Saanich. Attendance was possibly an all-time record as the call was sounded for more chairs and even ballot papers were hurriedly augmented to cater to the attendance. The crowded meeting elected Capt. J. Rowton to the school board for a two-year term and pursued a discussion on many phases of school administration.

Chairman of the school district, J. D. Helps, devoted the majority of his annual report to the details of the forthcoming school building by-law.

A report appearing in last week's Review showed a higher figure for the ratepayers' share of the cost than is the case. The Review stated that the ratepayers would meet half of the $800,000. In actual fact, said Mr. Helps, the district will pay one-quarter of the capital cost, or $200,000.

The chairman explained that until this year the division of costs has been on a 50-50 basis, but that this year the sharing materially differed.

He outlined the need for schools in various parts of the district and explained the plans of the school board. The new by-law is predicated on the anticipated needs during the next three years, he announced. It was prepared with the co-operation of the Capital Region Planning Board, planning departments of the various constituent municipalities and the staff of the school district.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOLS

The new school at Wesley Road will be constructed as a junior-senior high school, he reported, but it is the plan of the board to establish it as a senior high school as soon as possible. He admitted that such a scheme might yet call for attendance of high school students from all parts of the school district at the new unit.

Regarding the purchase of sites in the district, Mr. Helps explained that the provincial government assisted the school district in their acquisition, but that the government's share was put into use when the site was put into use.

The chairman was called upon to explain the duties of a school trustee. He observed that the fundamental duty was to provide buildings and personnel for the education of children within the district.

"There are number of duties, besides," he added. "They are all part and parcel of the same job. We are supposedly putting into operation the wishes of the ratepayers."

The trustees are applying these

RATEPAYERS' FAULT

When J. A. Taylor enquired of the reason for spending $5,000 on a new furnace at Sidney elementary school, Mr. Helps threw the question back at the ratepayers.

The original by-law covering Sidney school had been rejected by the ratepayers, he recalled. The first estimates had included provision for

Army Man Takes Over As Trustee

Saanich School District made a sharp switch between military services on Monday night when an army man was elected to the office of school trustee hitherto filled by an air force man.

Term of Sqn. Ldr. G. F. Gilbert will terminate at the end of the year. Capt. J. Rowton was elected to office with effect from January.

Third candidate was R. H. Turley when ratepayers of the North Saanich section of the school district voted in the public meeting at North Saanich high school.

Sanscha Annual Meeting

Annual meeting of SANSCHIA called for Tuesday evening of next week will be held on Wednesday evening, Nov. 25, in SANSCHIA Hall.

Directors approved the change in date after finding that the earlier arrangement, conflicted with the target club's shoot, when the smaller hall would be defunct by gun fire.

President N. T. Wright has sounded an appeal for a full representation of local organizations at this and other SANSCHIA assemblies.

"SANSCHIA can only flourish with full community support," stated Mr. Wright.

SECOND BOAT ASHORE AS

TWO FIRES DESTROY FISH BOAT AT ROBERTS BAY PIER

Later on Sunday evening the fish boat was left stranded by the receding tide.

A householder whose property overlooked the bay reported a fire at 4:45 a.m. on Monday, following a further windstorm. Firemen responding to the alarm discovered that fire had broken out again aboard the Dinec C, and that it was burning to the waterline in the forward section. Damage was finally assessed at $7,000.

The fire chief attended, to learn that one of the vessels was emitting smoke from the stove pipe and by beneath a threat of fire.

Chief Gardner returned to the fire hall for equipment and left instructions with volunteer firemen to stand by.

Shortly after his return to the scene the Dinec C, caught fire and the alarm was sounded. The burning vessel was moored to the Thrush. Jack Egeland and Don Hansen succeeded in separating the two boats and the Thrush floated free. The firemen had the fire out in a brief attack. Cause was the overturning of a stove when the vessel rolled.

Damage to the $10,000 boat was estimated at $2,500. The vessel was owned by Nelson Brothers of Vancouver and skippered by Laurence Pollard of Vancouver.

On Sunday afternoon the two skippers were located and advised of the damage. Andy Wilson was also notified that his Thrush was still afloat.

LEAVE AS END OF JOB REACHED

All is quiet on the airport as crews of Perini Pacific Ltd. have withdrawn and left the district.

For many months the construction company employed a large crew, augmented by sub-contracting haulage men, to raise the level of the airport runways and taxi strips.

With millions of dollars worth of equipment and a large crew here, Perini became a familiar name to hundreds of local residents. A substantial payroll contributed to the economy of the district during their stay.

Local Scuba Divers Hunt Sunken Treasure; Submerged Vessel Holds Many Thrills

A group of Sidney scuba (self contained underwater breathing apparatus) divers are making a trip to Port Alberni this week-end to search for further wreckage of a sunken vessel. Recently divers have found two cannon from a sunken vessel and this week-end divers are continuing their efforts to determine if the ship was of Spanish or English origin. The group of diving enthusiasts may find gold, more cannons or nothing but it is all part of the thrill of the underwater life.

The local group consists of Dave Christian, Bud Bailey, Dick Cays, Dennis Bowcott, Bill Cowell and two navy personnel from VU33 squadron who have been working as a group doing salvage and repair work in the area when required.

The group also take in fishing and shell hunting as a pastime. As yet the group have not formed a club but according to Bill Cowell, Third St., they hope to form one this coming year.

We are always glad to help anyone learn the art of scuba diving and would not like to see them start learning on their own. I have done some diving on my own and have run into trouble, Mr. Cowell stated, and I would not like to see anyone make the same mistakes I did. There should always be two divers together in case trouble should present itself.

As an example of what might happen Mr. Cowell related how Dick Cays while diving at Vesuvius had a tangle with a small octopus. When travelling in a group such a menace can soon be dealt with. Other dangers to divers are wolf eels but when in a group the danger is less.

The deeper you go the more the sport fascinates you, the mechanic from Douma Motors continued. When a person learns the art though they start in a shallow pool and gradually build up their resistance to stand the deeper water pressures. The deepest I have ever been, he continued was 120 feet at Vesuvius when in search for Abony shells. These shells are similar to the shell observed on the gas company signs and contain a muscle which he described as delicious eating.

Mr. Cowell who was born in Sidney and continues to reside here spent some time in Kitimat and there he assisted police with his skin diving. The local group, he related, spend most of the time locating rudders, outboard motors and the like. We are always available to assist anyone who wishes to learn the art or require our services and we are also willing to learn, he concluded.

CADETS INSPECT MASSIVE FLYING BOAT AS COMPANY OFFICIAL CONDUCTS TOUR

About 20 boys of Sidney Air Cadet Squadron were invited to inspect a Martin Mars flying boat last weekend when Alec Davidson, test pilot with Fairey Aviation Co. of Canada Ltd., gave a conducted tour over one of the massive machines.

Mr. Davidson gave the cadets a brief commentary on the past history and performance of the giant flying boats.

The Mars was built in 1943, he explained, for the United States Navy. There were six machines constructed at a cost of $4½ millions each. The same machine would cost double that figure today, suggested Mr. Davidson.

With a wingspan of 200 feet and a total length of close to the same figure, the Mars is equipped with four engines. The inboard engines are fully reversible to provide for maximum manoeuvrability on the water. Flying unladen the Mars will take off on two engines, stated the speaker, despite its size.

WATERBORNE

He noted that ability to handle well on the water is a necessity as the aircraft must obey all regulations pertaining to shipping once it is waterborne. The machine carried a crew of 11 while operating with the naval service for which it was designed. The longest trip it has undertaken was from Hawaii to New York and thence to Chicago, non-stop. It has also, on occasion, carried more than 350 persons.

Of the six originals only four are left. All four are now owned by the forestry industry of the province and are being converted for fire-fighting purposes by his company.

The first to be withdrawn from service was the initial machine flown by the makers until it was finished. By this means the exhaustive tests demanded by the manufacturers were carried out on behalf of the remainder. The second to go was one which caught fire on the water and was permitted to burn out. It burned to the waterline and sank.

In its new guise the Mars will be equipped with tanks to carry 35 tons of water. It will replenish the tanks while taxiing over the surface. The water is taken aboard in three minutes. When above the forest fire

Built to the proportions of a small ship, the deck leads to the stowage for the anchor and the staircase rising to the control room. The upper deck, forward, provides accommodation for the flying crew, while the galley is situated on the lower deck.

In the stern of the big ship is the staircase giving access to the rear upper deck. Provided with small portholes, this is the most luxurious part of the machine. The seats for about 20 persons may be dropped back to form a narrow bed, offering the ultimate in comfort for the V.I.P.'s for whom this section was designed. The entire seating can be removed without effort and bench seats placed in the same area to carry a greater number of passengers.

The four machines are currently stationed at Patricia Bay airport.

ST. JOHN'S W.A. TO RAISE FUNDS

Monthly meeting of St. John's United Church W.A. was held on Tuesday, Nov. 3, at 8 o'clock, with 17 members present.

A quantity of used clothing was collected from the members and Mrs. E. Gardner is forwarding it to Vancouver for use among needy families.

Mrs. W. Freeman had Christmas cards on sale in aid of the W.A. funds. Samples of Christmas table decorations and wreaths, made by the C.G.I.T. were on display. The funds raised will be used to help to send some of the girls to the United Church camp in the summer.

Plans were made for the A.O.T.S. supper to be served at the November 24 meeting.

The devotional was read by Mrs. D. Dunlop and after the meeting was adjourned, refreshments were served by Mrs. S. Grahame, Mrs. E. Gardner and Mrs. W. Freeman.

After conversion to water carriers, they will probably be stationed at Sproat Lake during the summer months and at the airport for the winter.

The air cadets, under the direction of the commanding officer, FL. J. R. Hannan, spent an hour or so aboard the Mars.

Members of the Vancouver Island branch of the National Chinchilla Breeders of Canada attending the thirteenth National meeting in Vancouver on Saturday, Nov. 14 were: F. S. Kirby, East Saanich Road, branch president; Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Creighton, Island Highway; Mrs. Creighton is branch secretary; Jack Lee, West Saanich Road, director, and N. D. Coutts, Ganges.

In the morning delegates representing the membership of about 400 breeders from all across Canada gathered to discuss matters relating to the association's constitution. The afternoon was devoted to matters of marketing pelts.

In the evening Wes Olsen, national president of the American Association, from California, spoke to the gathering.

REMEMBRANCE DAY SERVICE AT MOUNT NEWTON

On Tuesday, Nov. 10, a Remembrance Day service was held at Mount Newton school. After the singing of "O Canada" by the students, the principal, J. W. Lott, gave a short talk, which was followed by a reading by Richard Tyne and by a choir selection, "Souls of the Righteous."

Anne Knott, Student Council president, laid the student wreath, followed by a further selection, "Sleep Soldier," by the choir.

After the "Last Post" and the observance of the two minutes' silence, the bugler played "Reveille."

There was a short prayer by the Rev. George Harrington and an address by Major W. Orchard of the Canadian Legion.

Plans were also made for a turkey supper and Christmas party for the members, to be held at the hall on Tuesday, Dec. 15. Attractively-wrapped gifts were brought, to be sent to mental patients for Christmas. A program for the coming year was discussed. Baby garments to be made up for the Unitarian Services were distributed to the members. Mrs. Gibson was the winner of the monthly prize. Hostesses for the afternoon were: Mrs. F. ing will be Mrs. E. G. Woodward, who hopes to have a guest speaker from Victoria, the meeting will be held at the hall on Tuesday, Nov. 24.

Annual Christmas bazaar and tea of the United Church Women's Association will be held in the church hall, West Saanich Road, on Saturday, Nov. 21. Reeve H. R. Brown will open the affair at 2 p.m. There will be home cooking, needlework and miscellaneous stalls, also a good selection of Christmas cards.

The recent meeting of the Baptist Church Mission Circle was held at the home of Mrs. J. Brown. The afternoon was spent in the study of work for the lepers. This work is of great interest to the members of the group and much of their time is spent in sewing for the lepers. The next meeting will be held on Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 24, at the home of Mrs. Sahlburg, when there will be a guest speaker from Victoria.

Young people will hold a social at the community hall on Thursday evening, Nov. 19, and all young people in the district are welcome. Refreshments will be served. Plans for the social were made at the fortnightly meeting of the Young Peoples' group.

POOR ATTENDANCE AS PANEL DISCUSSES EDUCATION AND COST AT MOUNT NEWTON

On Tuesday evening of last week Mount Newton High School P.T.A. presented a panel discussion on education. Sponsors, who had anticipated that the panel would be of great interest to the citizens of the district, expressed disappointment at the poor attendance.

The topic was "It's Time to Think of Dollars and Education." It was timed to take place a month before the new building by-law is presented for the taxpayers' approval.

Dr. W. Plenderleith, first member of the panel to speak, discussed two main topics: operative costs and buildings. Dr. Plenderleith explained lucidly how the provincial government drew up its grants to local school boards. All needed services, such as teachers, janitors, fuel, light and power are considered basic and grants are based on a provincial salary scale laid down by the government.

Local boards may go beyond these operating costs, but when this happens they must pay 100 per cent of the additional expense; otherwise, costs are figured on the following basis:

LOCAL SHARE

All lands in the province are assessed by the same measuring stick and local school boards pay up to 12 mills on this assessed value. If this does not pay the cost of the basic operating expenses the government pays the remainder. The average district can only pay about 50 per cent, so that the government contributes in many areas.

In regard to buildings, once the need is proved on a three-year projection basis, the government pays 50 per cent up to a local cost of three mills. When the local cost is from 3 to 4 1/2 mills, the provincial government pays 75 per cent and local school boards 25 per cent. Over 4 1/2 mills, the government pays 90 per cent and local school boards 10 per cent.

The present position in Saanich is that the government pays 75 per cent and the local school board 25 per cent for new buildings.

Second member of the panel, Chairman J. D. Helps of the Saan-

MARDI GRAS AT THE GEM

"Mardi Gras" at the Gem Theatre, November 19, 20, 21, Thursday, Friday, Saturday, stars Pat Boone and Christine Carere in this musical comedy.

Mardi Gras follows the adventure of a quartet of military cadets at the annual New Orleans festival through the streets of New Orleans and the campus of the military institute. Co-starred in this cinematic color production are Tommy Sands, Sheree North and Gary Crosby.

Both of Mount Newton's rugby teams met those of the University School on Thursday afternoon.

The junior teams tied eight-all, but the senior team was defeated 6 to 0, after a hard-fought game.

ich School District, explained that $799,000 was the total cost of the new building program, but that the taxpayers must raise only $290,000 of that sum. The new junior-senior high school at Wesley Road, which will be constructed if the by-law is passed, will become a senior high school in the future. Six sites are already purchased and seven schools have changes or additions planned.

URGES HELP

A Victoria teacher, Miss D. Craig, spoke on "Teaching Conditions in the Backwoods of B.C."

Miss Craig also put in a plea for help toward teacher training, explaining that it often took a teacher 10 years to complete his or her training, since the young people must teach in order to be able to further their education each summer.

Aid to these teachers would mean that the community would have the benefit of their education in a much shorter time.

W. R. Orchard, speaking as a parent, and the only layman on the panel, asked if the school curriculum was adequate and whether the schools were turning out students who were fitted for the business world today. He emphasized the status of the graduate as the ultimate criterion of the system.

The panelists were urged to bear this in mind while they considered any aspect of school operation or administration.

SCHOOL MEETING

RATEPAYERS of Saanich School District in the unorganized territory not only established a record attendance on Monday evening, but offered an undertaking to repeat the performance in ensuing years.

The meeting was invited to express an opinion on the alternative means available of electing trustees. By a heavy majority ratepayers called for election by annual meeting rather than an election at large.

This expression of preference was a tacit guarantee that the ratepayers would, in fact, attend the meeting in coming years and thereby justify an election.

For the first time in a decade the meeting was a successful assembly of ratepayers of the district. In recent years attendance has been farcical. Such was not the case on Monday evening.

Attendance, however, was not such as to occasion smugness, other than on the part of those who were there. There are hundreds of ratepayers who failed to attend the meeting. We have the assurance of a hundred or so ratepayers that they will make a point of future attendance. We would welcome the assurance of another 1,000.

THOSE STREET NAMES

ALL is quiet on the "street names front" since a summary of the situation was prepared by Commissioner J. E. Bosher and approved of unanimously by the village commission. It gave The Review much pleasure to publish Mr. Bosher's well-prepared treatise. It clarified the situation once and for all.

The commission has thus gone on record as wishing to co-operate fully with other municipalities where it is necessary to change street names. This is right and proper. On the other hand, Sidney's village fathers will seek to perpetuate street names here which have a more historic background than those of other centres. Nothing could be fairer.

An example is Henry Avenue. It was named to honor a pioneer who donated the land on which the village has been built. This name, unfortunately, conflicts with "Henry Street" which runs a few blocks between Alston and Russell in Victoria West. We do not know which "Henry" was honored by this modest thoroughfare. It may have been Henry VIII. But if the significance of Sidney's Henry is greater than Victoria West's Henry, then the village commission and Sidney residents will all agree that Victoria West should yield instead of Sidney. Other street names may fall into the same category.

The recent flare-up on the subject of street names has emphasized once again the necessity of the post office department declaring the entire Saanich-Peninsula a single postal entity and eliminating the iniquitous five-cent post rate. If the discussion has hastened that happy day, it has been well worthwhile.

A GENEROUS OFFER

OFFICERS of the organization which sponsors Victoria Symphony Orchestra are well pleased indeed with the response of the people of Sidney, Central Saanich and North Saanich to their offer to stage regular musical evenings in SANSCHA Hall. Three separate concerts have already been presented under the direction of Hans Gruber. And the attendance has been gratifying. Two more concerts will be held during the winter months and in future, as long as local interest is shown, Victoria Symphony Orchestra will continue to play in Sidney.

This arrangement is not only a good one from the standpoint of the residents of this district. It is also of real advantage to the orchestra, in permitting the musicians to play good music to a larger audience. This is their real purpose.

This week comes another offer from the president of Victoria Symphony Orchestra. If residents of Salt Spring Island can make arrangements for an extra ferry trip between Fulford and Swartz Bay, they will be welcomed at the next symphony concert in Sidney at a nominal entrance fee. The offer is a genuine and generous one. Lovers of good music on Salt Spring may be expected to explore the possibility of accepting the offer without delay.

WILL THEY GET THERE?

RESIDENTS of the Gulf Islands may enjoy one substantial consolation in their negotiations with the senior governments. The governmental authorities are consistent and if one minister denies assistance to islanders they can be reasonably certain of the same treatment in other directions.

For many years the islanders have been asking for assistance in transportation. After long-drawn-out negotiations with the department concerned the islanders have gained some part of the facilities they sought.

Today the same ratepayers of the Gulf Islands are once again finding themselves penalized for living on an island. They have received no assurance from the minister of education that students on the outer islands will be assisted to attend the schools for which they are taxed.

Islanders are wondering, and not without reason, whether they, as a small voting bloc, are destined to face years of protest before their problems are recognized by a government which has not always been hasty in coming to their aid.

Letters To The Editor

STRAWBERRIES

Editor, Review,
Sir:
It was with genuine surprise that I read in a recent issue of a Victoria paper the two press releases from Mr. Newton Stacey, minister of agriculture for B.C.

His reference to the quality of strawberries grown on Vancouver Island is an echo of a statement made previously by a high official of a chain store. The truth of the matter is that "strawberries grown on Vancouver Island have a high reputation and are eagerly sought by all processors and distributors. If, as Mr. Stacey claims, they are inferior to a California variety then it casts a reflection on the lack of research by his own horticultural branch or other departments of Agriculture that they have not been able to propagate a substitute, yet we know they are doing their utmost with the limited funds allowed them for research work.

Again in view of the fact that our adverse trade balance with the U.S.A. is reaching alarming proportions one would hardly expect a provincial cabinet minister to act

Reflections From the Past

10 YEARS AGO

George Spencer of the Saanich Farmers' Exchange is to relinquish control of the establishment after operating the well-known establishment for over 30 years. The new operator is Capt. J. A. L. Wood, who is himself well-known in the area.

Air Commodore S. L. G. Pope was elected president of the Sidney and North Saanich Chamber of Commerce at the annual general meeting of the organization on Tuesday of this week.

For many years The Review was

20 YEARS AGO

About 60 attended the two games of basketball which were played at the Beaver Point community hall on Friday last. The Fulford girls won the first game by the score of 20 to 2, while the Beaver Point boys as booster for their products or on the other hand disparage such products grown by the very people that are his duty to look after and protect.

The minister's assertion that farmers' institutes are declining in membership is true, yet it is not, as he avers, due to lack of enthusiasm, though what farmers in many lines of agriculture have to be enthusiastic about these days is a matter of concern.

According to statistics the 1951 census showed a decline in rural population of one-third for the decennial period. It is within the realm of possibility that the 1961 census will show a decline of 50 per cent or more, after which it will be more rapid. One does not need to gaze long into the crystal ball to see that by 1971 all primary produce in B.C. will be grown by 100 or less integrated corporate farms. This is no figment of the imagination.

In Ontario there is a poultry establishment, 77 of which could supply the whole country with poultry products. Twenty-five hundred farms such as that shown to Mr. Khrushchev could supply the whole of the U.S.A. with the products grown there. Referring to strawberries again there is a farm in Santa Cruz County, California, operated by a single syndicate whose output is equal to the whole tonnage grown in B.C. You cannot stop progress some will say, others that this is an age of expansion and big business. Too true, but look out, Mrs. Housewife, and beware, Mr. Minister! When that day comes the latter's services will not be required and Mrs. Housewife will pay the price asked just as we do now when we purchase a car. Again there is a more serious aspect still. Will this not be equal to the old feudal system when a few feudal barons held all the land and their fiefs did the work and fought for them just for the privilege of huddling beneath the walls of the castle?

In the meantime, Mr. Editor, people in the vastly populated and hungry countries are eagerly awaiting the opportunity to take over wide and open spaces after we have destroyed ourselves in our ignorance.

Finally, Sir, I would like to draw to the attention of everyone concerned that agriculture is the chief basic industry of any country and that country is just as prosperous as its agriculture. The poorer nations of the world bears witness to that fact.

REMEMBRANCE DAY

Editor, Review,
Sir:

A reflection or two on the Remembrance Day service:

Would it not be more fitting to have the microphone placed so that the names of the fallen dead could be heard rather than the names of the various organizations placing a wreath? (One almost feels that this has reached the proportions of a competition!)

I would suggest that all wreaths from organizations be placed prior to the service, and that at the ceremony, one wreath be placed representing the people of North Saanich and one representing the mothers and widows of the men who died in battle. These two wreaths could be purchased through public contribution and the "fund" turned over to the veterans.

Let us keep Remembrance Day but let us keep it with simplicity, dignity and reverence.

Thank you for space for these remarks.

JUDAISM

Editor, Review,
Sir:

I was interested in the Book Review column of the Oct. 29 issue of your paper. How true it is, as the reviewer says, that "History and literature are filled with references to the Jewish race from the beginning of the Christian era."

It seems to me that we are more or less guilty of making unjust remarks about the Jews even in our everyday conversation. For example, if one is careful in money matters we refer to him as a "Jew," though it is possible that other races are just as frugal in business affairs. Or if one has the roaming spirit we call him a "wandering Jew," although Gentiles defeated the Fulford team 32 to 11. Second in the series of monthly bridge evenings, organized by Mrs. D. K. Crofton, Mrs. F. Penrose and J. M. Napier, entertainment committee of the Salt Spring Island golf club, took place last Wednesday evening in the club house.

30 YEARS AGO

Bill Henstock of Mount Newton arrived at Fulford on Thursday with his new truck, which will be used for hauling telephone poles and other equipment on Musgrave's mountain.

40 YEARS AGO

Sidney Mills were closed all day Armistice Day. They were the only mills to close on that day. Those in Victoria and Vancouver were going full blast all day.

Pull Up A Chair . . .

By TED GASKELL

FOR BEATING, NOT EATING

This is the end, the ultimate in gracious living, I'm sure.

I've seen doors which open when one approaches.

I've heard of garage doors which open when a signal is tooted on a horn.

But I never thought I'd live to see the day when the inventors brought out a phosphorescent rug which shines in the dark so that one can go to the bathroom without switching on the lights.

But they have, according to the Sun.

Added to which, there is also a rug which is edible and can be eaten by dogs and babies without harmful effects.

This rug, which illuminates the way to the bathroom, (no doubt to be advertised as a toilet aid, as the cosmetic ads say) isn't that a bit too much?

I mean, if the need is pressing enough, surely one can press a switch. Personally, if I get up in the middle of the night I am in such a stupor that if I see car headlights, I think it's the end of the world. Goodness knows what I'd think if I got up and saw the half-way floor light.

If inventiveness can be carried to that extreme why not a small track-mounted cart from front door to the bedroom so that when one rolls in, slightly incapacitated, at four in the morning, one falls into the cart, trips a switch and the thing runs along the track to the edge of the bed and comes to a halt with a jolt which tips the reveller out of the cart and into bed?

And now to edible rugs.

Personally I don't think people are equally as prone to be rolling stones in these days of easy travel. Then again if one is particular about his diet and refuses to eat pork or avoids other unclean meats we sometimes contemptuously refer to him as a Jew, although the Bible makes clear that the distinction between clean and unclean meats was given long before the Jewish race came into existence. (See Gen. 7:2).

Then again if one keeps the seventh day as the Sabbath he is sometimes branded as a Jew, although the seventh day Sabbath was established at Creation, thousands of years before the Jewish era (Gen. 2:2-3).

It is strange how such casual remarks about the Jews have influenced our thinking to such an extent that we have even endorsed certain beliefs that have little or no foundation.

COMMUNITY EFFORT

Editor, Review,
Sir:

The community has enjoyed the services of SANSCHA hall for the past year. It has been used by groups and organizations representing a membership of all ages. The hall has fulfilled its purpose within the limitations of its state of completion.

The executive of SANSCHA is proud of the record of the past year. That same executive, however, has two main problems to face. The operation of the building as a community hall must be maintained throughout the ensuing years. At the same time the plans for meeting the obligations of the community in respect of the commitments undertaken must be carefully prepared and put into operation.

This future achievement can be guaranteed only with the continued support of the community. SANSCHA was born of a community effort. It was constructed by an impressive community effort. It will flourish only with this same community effort.

May I appeal to your readers to enlist their aid for the operation of the association and to urge all community organizations to appoint their delegates to SANSCHA. Only by this means, a full community support, can we flourish.

This is a community hall. Please help us to maintain a community effort in its support. This can only be possible by a fully representative attendance at next Wednesday's annual meeting of SANSCHA.

"The Great Imposter", by Robert Crichton. Random House. 218 pp.

There is something pathetic about this story. It starts out to tell the tale of a man who became notorious for his service as a medical officer in the Royal Canadian Navy when not even in possession of a medical degree, and, in fact, an alien.

There was something spectacular about the report of his imposture and the manner in which he carried it off.

The story adds nothing to his stature. It shows him as a man devoid of moral fibre, so determined to preen his ego that he is unable to live under his own identity. He is seen as a man who must borrow or steal somebody else's identity in order to achieve a standing he is too lazy to accomplish on his own.

The news reports attaching to his various escapades depicted a romantic, swashbuckling individual capable of assuming any identity and carrying it to its conclusion. The book shows him as a social failure striving to assert himself by means of stolen credentials.

Throughout the story he is shown as insinuating himself into the confidence of others, gaining their affection and finally turning on them, throwing their confidence in their faces and stealing money or property with the certain knowledge that no prosecution will follow for fear of the scandal or unwelcome publicity which would accompany a court case.

should have children or even dogs if they can't afford to feed them properly.

And anyway the idea isn't practical.

With the rugs we have nowadays, one can paint or varnish the living room floor to a line just under the carpet and everything looks right.

But with an edible rug?

The baby wakes up hungry and mother is busy ironing or telephoning or something. She simply dumps the child on the living room floor and says, "There, have a Persian sandwich."

And what happens? Before you know it you're having to paint or varnish the whole of the living room floor because baby has eaten its way past the line, formerly hidden by the rug.

And the dog.

No more will the dog be a household pet. It might make itself sick gnawing its way from one corner of the best Numdah to the other.

In future the dog's place will be in the basement with a dishful of Axminster leftovers.

And how does one clean these edible rugs?

You can't brush them, the place would be full of crumbs.

You can't wash or shampoo them, the furniture would be spotted with gravy stains.

And when you hung them over the clothes line to bent them you'd be worn out keeping the seagulls off them.

No.

As Kipling might have said: Rugs is rugs and mats is mats.

And neither was meant to be eat.

SCOUT

and CUB NOTES

Following appointments have been made in Sidney B Cub pack: Tawney six, sixer Philip Orchard; second Richard Laing; White six, sixer Jim Sinclair, second Nick Lott; Brown six, sixer Joe Rowton, second Gordon Shanks; Red six, second Jim Hastings.

On Thursday, Nov. 12, Mrs. V. Cowan, Mrs. N. Shillito and Mrs. N. Cash attended a handicraft course in Victoria conducted by Mr. Sinclair and Mr. Miles of the Lloyd-El crafts.

The news reports showed a man seven feet high. The book reduces these dimensions to depict a pygmy.

F. W. Demara, son of a French Canadian father and an Irish mother, an American citizen, was a deserter from the army, a deserter from the navy, a deserter from various religious orders from which he consistently stole money and goods, and a fake. He undertook to serve as a medical officer, hiding those patients whose treatment was less than straightforward, apparently unconcerned whether or not they might die from his lack of skill. When he successfully treated a group of injured men he saw himself as a hero. There is little doubt but that any skilled nurse brought to the point of emergency where she was called upon to practice medicine could have treated his patients, but with the added confidence of honesty and integrity which were completely lacking in his character.

The book is not particularly well written. The subject is reduced from an international hero to an artificial, swaggering bum. It has little to offer the reader except a caution against sympathy with this or any other imposter.—F.G.R.

"This book of the law . . . thou shalt meditate therein day and night . . . to do according to all that is written therein; for then thou shalt make thy way prosperous."—Joshua 1:8.

The Bible is recognized as the best selling book in circulation, yet is this sufficient? Where is your Bible? Do you know? Have you read it yet today? If you can't find it, haven't read it, then why did you buy it? Joshua was commanded that the Word was to be continually in his mouth and in his thoughts. He was God's servant and therefore was to know His Word. Secondly, Joshua was commanded to do all that the Word said. What good to read the directions and not do them exactly as directed. Compliance with these instructions assure success — anything less assures failure.

A successful journey through life and arrival in heaven can only be had in accordance with the same directions—know your Bible—do as it commands. "Ye must be born again." "No man cometh unto the Father but by me." Jesus says "Come unto me all ye that labour and I will give you rest."

GERMAN INDUSTRIAL ACTIVITY IMPRESSIVE AS SIDNEY DOCTOR AND FAMILY ENJOY EUROPEAN TOUR

By ROTARIAN

Dr. D. R. Ross gave Sidney Rotarians the highlights of his recent trip to Europe with his family which includes Mrs. Ross, son Jim and daughter Jean, when he addressed the club last week.

Club members are becoming well informed on overseas travel through the courtesy and descriptive powers of their after-dinner speakers. Dr. Ross' presentation brings to mind the recent press announcement of John G. Bridges, Director-General, British Travel Association that in 1959, there will be 1,300,000 overseas visitors, of whom 90,000 are from Canada and these visitors will have spent a total of $600 million—tourist trade in the British Isles is the country's greatest dollar earner.

On the flight overseas the first landing was at Frobisher, where both ice floes and DEW-line domes were conspicuous. The next morning their plane landed at Amsterdam, where it was surprising to find a very high percentage of young Dutch people who spoke English. The Dutch serve very large, rich meals. A tour of Amsterdam and general vicinity by canal boat is a much better proposition for the tourist than trying to do it by car.

ESSENTIALS ONLY

The next main point of call was at Cologne, which still showed a lot of war damage in contrast to Holland where there was very little. Dusseldorf for instance, still showed a lot of war damage—the Germans have apparently concentrated on getting their factories going, bothering very little to clean up more than has been essential.

Industrially, conditions are very active and humming 24 hours a day, which includes factories, trucks, ships, whistles and horns, rendering sleep in a downtown hotel in such a centre very difficult.

A trip on the Rhine by boat again emphasized industrial activity, with the stress on a never-ending line of loaded barges. Germany, as further travel revealed, is a hive of industry, compared to leisurely France and completely inactivated Spain. Castles along the Rhine are a dime a dozen, indicating, perhaps, the tempo of a bygone age when industry was not everything!

The tempo of present-day life in Germany is that Germans will take time to be civil but not time to be friendly as was the case in Holland. Dr. Ross makes no claim to being an agriculturist but feels that the amazing vineyards along the steep slopes of the Rhine Valley must be cultivated by mountain goats rather than by humans.

VERY HOT

Travelling on to Paris the impression was of fast, clean railway coaches, oppressively hot. The traveller, for self-preservation, must take first class passage but this does not guarantee a seat. Crossing the border from one country to another presents real currency difficulties which prove most annoying. Apart from this, a Canadian enjoys the utmost in consideration. The family made many border crossings and were extended the utmost courtesy—customs officials never opening a suitcase but accepting their word as to purchases especially noting alcoholic beverages. Dr. Ross stressed the pride that one feels in European countries on being a Canadian.

At one station in France when Dr. Ross got off the train for a breath of fresh air, the train, much to his consternation, pulled out and left him out of reach. In this predicament he found that he had all the family money and that the family had his jacket and other personal possessions. Fortunately after going down the track for four miles to a switching point, the train came back and all were again united.

DELIGHTFUL PARIS

Ten days in Paris was a delightful experience taking in the typical tourist sights. The Louvre especially intrigued him with its special emphasis on art in pictures and sculpture. This was in marked contrast to the English museums, where the main emphasis is on the literary side of culture. (Both, of course, are in marked contrast to the starved, poverty-stricken quarters we have in Victoria in our museum and provincial archives.)

A ride in a French taxi is about as exciting an adventure as lion hunting would be in Africa. Taxi drivers are a marvel in accuracy of judgment, seemingly they put a 54-inch wide car through a 40-inch space. It is now illegal for French taxicabs to blow their horns so drivers have recourse to profanity in the most majestic terms. The poor pedestrian looks out for himself and agility is his best stock in trade. Frenchmen seem to specialize in hot, black coats—the tourist in his shirt sleeves is at once marked as an American or Canadian tourist.

The family left Paris by plane for London and thence by car to Edinburgh. England is an area of adjoining cities just one after another, with crowded highways and the country rapidly dwindling. The time in Scotland was mainly taken up at the medical convention, enjoying Scotch hospitality and visiting relatives.

MINIMUM USE

A week was then spent in London and Dr. Ross says if you want to drive in London, wait until a Sunday morning when traffic is at a minimum. The country appears to be prosperous—cars in ever-increasing numbers and highways congested. A drive from London to Dover consists of a line of cars going at 25 miles per hour with occasional stops.

A trip back to France and Spain was a rest from the convention and the week in London. In Spain life around Barcelona was most restful—eating, sleeping and bathing. Spaniards get started about 6 a.m. then retire from 2 to 7 p.m., dine at 9 and then dancing in the village squares take over. The Canadian dollar buys a lot of accommodation, wine and living in Spain. Then followed a journey back to London to get passage on a freighter back to Canada.

The few days at sea were most pleasant—plenty of rest and food, and an abundance of time for reading and sleeping—the best environment to relax and reflect and ponder the effect of the human masses on the mind and body of a rural Canadian.

The speaker was thanked by Rotarian S. S. Penny.

Experimental Farm Notes

WEEKLY REPORT OF NORTH SAANICH STATION

By G. R. WEBSTER, P.A.G.

TEXTURING A SOIL

Soils are often described as being clay or heavy textured soils, sandy or light textured soils or some combination of these terms.

There is little use referring to a soil by these terms unless our readers know what they mean. I propose to tell you how to texture a soil to determine these properties. I believe that every grower, gardener or greenhouse operator should practice this technique until he becomes fully familiar with its use.

First, take a handful of soil and wet it slowly, working the soil with the hand continuously during the wetting operation. Continue this wetting for about two minutes until the soil reaches the consistency of soft putty.

Now you are ready for the test. Squeeze the soil firmly and then slowly open the hand. If the soil offers a great deal of resistance to opening of the hand it is classed as a clay soil; if it offers moderate resistance it is a clay loam; if the pull can just be detected but not sufficiently to distort the soil ball when the hand is opened it is a loam; if no resistance is offered then the soil is a sandy loam.

Much can be learned regarding the workability of a soil by this simple accurate test.

MORE ABOUT WATER

continuous water-table.

It is not possible to obtain water everywhere within this area by sinking a well to the required depth because in some places fine sand is pumped with the water and in at least one place a knoll of impervious till extends above the water surface.

However, the water-level in all the good wells is at approximately the same elevation, which indicates that sands and gravels form an extensive reservoir filled with ground-water to an elevation of 100 feet. The ground-water table is probably not a plane surface like the surface of a lake, but from the information available it is not possible to draw water-table contours.

Since the chief points of discharge are springs along the east side of the ridge and the inflow appears to come from the west the ground-water table probably slopes toward the east. If water-table contours were drawn they would probably show ridges extending from the drainage area to the west and the shape of these ridges would vary with the seasonal inflow of water to the reservoir.

(To Be Continued)

It's time enough to say it, when you know it to be true.

ACROSS MY DESK

REPORT FROM VICTORIA

by

JOHN D. T. TISDALE, M.L.A.

"Peace I leave with you, My peace I give unto you; not as the world giveth. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid."

Another Armistice has come and

J. D. Tisdale

quickly slipped away and for a brief moment in a very busy world some will have dared to turn their minds back to the darkness of mortal combat, that now seems to have been so long ago, and others will have scarcely paused to consider the cost of peace, being far too busy with things, caught up in the centre of their own whirlwind, and all the time fretting about the possibilities of another war.

Not everybody is like this, in fact thank goodness, most are not, nevertheless there is a great number of people that are possessed with fear and discontent, being so fearful they scarcely enjoy the freedom and peace we have. They lack security, and trying to find it they are willing to surrender the personal freedom of others and their own. They do not believe in peace at any price but security at any cost is valid. So the freedom of choice that men and women shed their blood for on the foreign front. That which was worth fighting and dying for on the battle fields is just as important to defend and struggle for on the social and political front. Petty discriminations and personal aggrandizement at the expense of others are contradictions of freedom, but becoming all too evident in a supposedly classless society. The warfare for freedom and peace not only must be contended for in the security councils of the world and in the local society but also in the home.

Each must ask himself the question: What am I doing for peace and freedom? Do I use it wisely and to the best advantage or do I condemn it with my actions?

Probably here is one case where our actions speak louder than our words. Maybe if we all tried a little harder to understand the quote that I started this article out with, we would then be more prepared to contribute to the cause of freedom and peace. Abraham Lincoln in his famous address on the declaration of principles of freedom was careful to say: "This Nation under God" could be a great nation. When people will recognize they are a Nation under God, and begin to act like people who are responsible to God and not only to themselves, then may it truly be said that: "They died not in vain" . . . and we have used wisely the peace they gave us.

To Improve Wallace Drive

Central Saanich council will be on the alert for the next two weeks for winter works projects.

At the regular meeting of Central Saanich council on Nov. 10, council was reminded that winter works projects must be communicated to the government by Dec. 1.

At the present time the only project council has under consideration calls for improvements to Wallace Drive in the vicinity of Benvenuto Ave. Estimated cost of the project is $13,500, of which $3,636 would represent labor costs.

Fearlessness is the mother of confidence.

Emphasis on Natural Lighting Ensures Pleasant Atmosphere

Open planning and the extensive use of large window areas ensure a bright and spacious interior in this three-bedroom split-level design by architect Douglas H. Miller, of Vancouver. A glass living room overlooks the back gardens and is an attractive feature of the house.

A three-foot high partition separates the living-dining room from the open stairway and front vestibule, which serves to separate the living and sleeping areas. The well-lighted kitchen has a U-shaped working area and room for a dining table. An open hatch connects the kitchen with the living-dining room. The basement extends only beneath the bedroom and entrance hall areas of the house, but there is space for a large recreation room in addition to storage and utility rooms.

The total floor area is 1,111 square feet and the exterior dimensions are 39 feet, nine inches by 34 feet, four inches. Working drawings for the house, known as Design 760 may be obtained from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.

St. Mary's Tea Now November 21

St. Mary's W.A. met in the Sunday school room, Cultra Ave., on Tuesday evening. The meeting opened with the W.A. prayer, with Marion Bickford in the chair.

W.A. members were asked to bring their Christmas gifts for the Dorcas society in the Sunday school rooms not later than Nov. 15 so that they might reach the northern outposts and be distributed in time for Christmas.

The evening service on the first Sunday of each month has proved very popular with the parishioners. Service starts at 7 p.m., not 7:30 p.m. as previously reported.

Next W.A. meeting, Dec. 8, will be election of officers. A nominating committee of Mdns. Clark, Eves and Chapman was appointed.

The date of the sale of new and used articles has been changed to Nov. 21. A large home-cooking stall is planned as well as plants and shrubs, candy and a white elephant sale. Tea will be served. The sale will open at 2 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 21.

Meeting closed with the Mizpah blessing and refreshments were served by Madames Eves, LeDain and Akers.

Even a tombstone will say good things about a guy when he's down.

GIRLS' MARK INTERNATIONAL FESTIVAL AS STRENGTH GROWS

Pioneer Girls across Canada, United States, Alaska, Hawaii, Peru, Formosa and Japan join in celebrating National Pioneer Girls' Week, November 15 to 22. The Pioneer Girls' organization was started in 1940 by a group of young ladies, university students in Chicago, who were made aware of the need for a Christian girls' club. In 1941 the program was expanded and there are now well over 46,000 Pioneer Girls.

The name "Pioneer" is one who goes before to prepare the way for another and Pioneer Girls today see opportunities lying ahead in many fields and many of them are preparing the way for others, especially in the field of Christian service. The different age divisions—pilgrims, colonists, explorers—and the ranks—voyager, pathfinder, homesteader, etc., are taken from the terms used by the early pioneers of our country.

The theme is "Christ in every phase of a girl's life" and they learn that whether it is playing in a ball game, serving at tea, doing various handicrafts, taking a five-mile hike, or helping around their home, all should be done to the glory of God.

On Friday, Nov. 20, at 7 p.m., the Pioneer Girls of Bethel Baptist church are having "open house" so members of the congregation and parents and friends may see the girls at work on their badges. Sunday, Nov. 22, the local forlades will hold church parade, and take part in the morning worship service.

SOCIETY TO BE CONTACTED

A letter was received by Central Saanich council recently from the B.C. Historical Society, asking that the society be contacted in the re-naming of streets in the area.

Council tabled the letter with the note that it would be considered.

Two Lay Wreaths

Reeve H. R. Brown of Central Saanich laid a memorial wreath at the Saanich Memorial Gore on Shelbourne St. on Armistice Day, while Councillor R. M. Lamont laid a similar wreath at the Sidney cenotaph on behalf of the municipality.

Foreshore Rights

At Central Saanich Council meeting on November 10 foreshore rights were approved following application of Clark Brothers for recognition of an area 50 feet by 350 feet to the north of the government owned wharf at Brentwood.

Reeve Brown Criticizes B.C. Cement

Reeve H. R. Brown of Central Saanich criticized B.C. Cement Co. for the closing of Wallace Drive at Central Saanich municipal council meeting Tuesday, Nov. 10.

"B.C. Cement Co. has no right to close Wallace Drive," said the reeve. "We will ask them for the key or we will have to cut the chain."

Reeve Brown was speaking of the chain which the B.C. Cement Co. has placed across Wallace Drive between Butchart Gardens and the West Saanich Road.

During the discussion which followed it was pointed out that the municipality has spent public money on repairs to the road and therefore was entitled to use it.

It was understood that the B.C. Cement Co. had closed the road to remove a culvert which the company deemed unsafe.

IN AND Around Town

Mr. and Mrs. A. Brown, who sold their home to Mr. and Mrs. Crowe of Winnipeg, moved a few months ago to their new home on All Bay Road.

F. J. Allen returned to his home on Henry Ave., after undergoing treatment at Rest Haven hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Fisher, Moxon Terrace, have had as guests the latter's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. G. Bateman and family, of Albert Canyon, B.C.; also Mrs. S. Holmes and family of Vancouver, and Mrs. A. Fisher of Estan-couver.

Mrs. F. J. Allen is in Rest Haven hospital where she has undergone an operation.

Mrs. Frank Bull, Patricia Bay Highway, arrived home on Monday from Royal Jubilee hospital with a baby boy, Steven Mark, who was born on November 5.

Mrs. Z. Forsythe, of Vancouver, recently visited her mother, Mrs. E. A. Bruce, Wildflower Road.

Thetis Park Nature Sanctuary World Famous

By DORIS LEEDHAM HOBES

In a telephone interview I had with Dr. Margaret Newton, one of Victoria's own famous scientists, I heard of the World Botanical Congress which meets every five years, and this year, 1959, met for the first time in eastern Canada.

Dr. Margaret Newton went from Victoria as a delegate, by invitation, to take part in a discussion on plant diseases, and in particular "rust", which attacks wheat, a subject on which she has spent years of research.

It was, said Dr. Newton, a most inspiring gathering, for 3,500 botanists from all over the world and of every race and color, were present. A large number of these travelled to B.C. for the purpose of investigating the Thetis Park Nature Sanctuary and other localities, and it was after this visit, that a resolution was drawn up urging all governments in all parts of the world, to set aside areas where nature could be preserved for the benefit of future generations. It is good to remember that our own province of British Columbia is the first in Canada to set aside land in its natural state for conservation.

The park at Thetis Lake, some 1,400 acres in extent, encloses the 400 acres of sanctuary which is unique in that it contains five different types of terrain: timbered bottom land, swamp region, rocky wooded hillside, and open rocky mossy slopes. Naturalists and students are collecting and noting trees, shrubs and plants, most of which will soon carry clear labels. Boys and girls of the Junior Natural History Society under Freeman King, himself a noted naturalist, are busy clearing trails and listing the birds found in the sanctuary. Schools and university students are making use of the park as a location for field botany.

The city, which owns the land will allow it to remain unspoiled just as long as it is kept up by the association and used for the specific purpose of a nature sanctuary. There are 426 members in the association with a membership fee in the Thetis Park Nature Sanctuary of $1 a year. The money is spent on printing labels and improving the site.

Dr. Margaret Newton told me

Over New Road To Visit Friends

Mr. and Mrs. Ewald Jabs, operators of Tudor Gift Shop in Sidney, enjoyed an unusual holiday last week. They visited their former home town of Port Alberni, then drove for two and three-quarter hours to Ucluelet where they were entertained by friends. Mr. Jabs reported that the road was in generally good shape but that it was necessary to proceed slowly over some sections. They visited Tofino as well.

TRAFFIC OFFENCES

In Sidney police court on November 6, Leonard Paul, West Saanich Indian Reserve, pleaded not guilty to a charge of being in possession of liquor on a reserve. He was found guilty and fined $10 and $3.50 costs.

Mabel Kistine Hobbs, 1520 Munroe Road, Sidney was found guilty of driving without due care and attention, following an accident on August 29, when she collided with an entrance post to Patricia Bay airport.

Joseph Patric Thomas, 9110 Fifth St., Sidney, was mulcted $95 and $3 costs for driving without a driver's license.

James Henry Lock, 1966 Fourth St., Sidney, convicted of driving without due care and attention, forfeited $15 and $5 costs. He was fined a further $15 and $3 costs when he failed to remain at the scene of an accident, in which he was involved at the corner of Beacon and Third St.

URGE ELEMENTARY EXTENSION

RATEPAYERS PROTEST HIGH SCHOOL PROJECTED HERE

Strong support for the inclusion of junior high school into elementary schools was evidenced at the annual meeting of ratepayers of North Saanich on Monday evening.

First note of dissent against the present policy of establishing junior high schools was sounded when Mrs. C. Whipple urged that junior high school students be taught at elementary schools.

"A girl of 14 is convinced she is an adult," complained Mrs. Whipple.
"She will explain that she is now grown up because she goes to high school."

Newly elected to the board of trustees, Capt. J. Rowton also took a swing at junior high schools.

"Do we need these schools?" he asked. "Why not carry these students in elementary schools?"

A number of other speakers
echoed the same views.
School Board Chairman J. D.
Helps declined to comment on the policy beyond affirming his support to the provision of separate junior high schools. He did not feel he was qualified to speak further on the subject. School Inspector F. A.
McLellan declined to comment.

WHERE DO WE GO?
Capt. Rowton jumped up quickly.
"Where are we to gain information on the subject?" he asked. "If no one can tell this meeting anything about it, who is the authority?" Only the provincial govern-an efficient heating plant. This was one of the items pared away in order to gain ratepayers' approval. The cost had been considerable ever since in terms of maintenance, fuel consumption and inefficient output.

Commissioner J. E. Bosher proposed that the meeting urge the provincial government to provide footpaths within three miles of the schools in the district. It was enthusiastically endorsed.

In closing Mr. Helps expressed his appreciation of the attendance and observed that his board was heartened to see so many present. A member of the audience asked whether a count had been taken for the benefit of The Review.

"The popularity of the automatic dishwasher is due to the fact that most husbands would rather buy than be one."

Sanscha Underwriting Use Of Hall During Past Year

In addition to facing its own debt retirement program SANSCHA is underwriting the use of the new community hall for local activities.
During the past year the cost of operation of the hall has been greater than the revenue by $188.
In addition to this disparity there have been various events staged by SANSCHA in the hall for which the organization has charged itself a rental. These items total another $200.

These figures are taken from the annual report of the hall management committee and concern only hall rentals and management.

Top item on the expense side of the ledger is electric power. This represents $728. Next on the list is wages at $545. Runners-up are heating and maintenance and supplies.
Total disbursements amounted to $2,438.

Junior recreation programs during the past year have been charged no rental. Each evening the hall has been available for these activities from 6 until 8 and again on Saturday mornings.

Directors will make various recommendations arising from the report at the annual meeting on Wednesday evening, Nov. 18.

CROWDS ATTEND SERVICES

Among the veterans who marched in the Remembrance Day parade on Salt Spring Island was 91-year-old
Dr. W. T. Lockhart, Scott Road, oldest member of the Salt Spring Island branch of the Canadian Le-

of Brentwood, have been begging us to provide them with a domestic water supply," he continued. "We decided to act and were surprised to note that some residents who had signed a petition seeking water,
later opposed the proposition."

Mr. Brown explained that efforts were made to secure water from Greater Victoria Water District but this proposal had proven not practical. The council accordingly turned to Elk Lake for a supply.

"We will pay for the system over 20 years, I am confident," said the speaker. "We are planning an up-to-date system with a hydrant every 500 feet. Non-corrosive pipe will be used. The by-law, in the amount of $83,000 will purchase the pipeline and provide a reservoir and fully automatic balancing tank. We are assured that the existing pipeline will serve for many years."

"People of Brentwood, who already have water will not be called upon to pay one cent for this new development — you can take my word for that," he promised.

"People who want water, need it badly. It is not good citizenship to oppose water for others just because you have an adequate supply yourself. Many people in our municipality have to turn off their plumb-ing every summer just because of water shortage."

If the by-law passes on December 17, the council will be letting contracts for ditches in less than a week, the reeve promised.

NO COMPULSION
"We are not going to force any one into taking water," he said.
"We will simply have it available
when it is wanted. The government will be our biggest customer because water supplied to the Experimental Farm and the airport will pay for the entire scheme."

Reeve Brown emphasized that water will be made available at the North Saanich boundary for anyone who wants to purchase it. Even groups of five or 10 consumers will be welcomed as customers.

The speaker was thanked by Dr.
C. H. Hennings, chairman of the Sidney village commission who forewarned vast development in Central Saanich if the by-law is approved by the ratepayers.

Present at the meeting was John Tisdalle, Saanich M.L.A., and G. Harris, president of the Central Saanich Chamber of Commerce.

A provincial government film,
"Tight Lines" was shown and preceded most entertaining.

gion. A man who keeps fit with a daily game of golf, Dr. Lockhart marched the entire parade route with a military step that was the envy of veterans half his age.

He had good company, both in the parade and at the annual veterans' dinner, sponsored by the Canadian Legion. At least half a dozen veterans of the South African War attended the dinner in Mahon hall,
Ganges, and joined more than 80
ex-servicemen of World Wars I and II.

A Legion color party led the parade to the cenotaph at Ganges for the Remembrance Day service, conducted by Archdeacon G. H.
Holmes. The veterans were followed by members of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Scouts, Guides and local organizations.

AT SIDNEY
At the same time an unprecedented number of people were taking part in the services at Sidney. Military and formal marching units
formed up outside Sidney post office and marched to the cenotaph, where Roy Tuttle officiated as parade marshal.

In the parade were a squad from the naval utility squadron at Patricia Bay, cadet units, Scouts and Guides. They were accompanied by members of the veterans' groups
and their auxiliaries.

Service was conducted by Rev.
Canon F. C. Vaughan-Birch and Rev. C. H. Whitmore. The naval squadron also furnished a bugler for the parade.

ISLAND LEGION AT CHURCH TO MARK REMEMBRANCE DAY HERE

By LEGIONNAIRE

It is 41 years ago that, at 11.00 hours one morning, from the North Sea to the Swiss border, trumpets and bugles sounded the call "Cease Fire". To the soldier of that day, the war had ended. Again in 1945, twice, the same call sounded. A few years later it sounded again, in Korea. In each campaign many lives had been lost, friends of mine, friends of yours. If you are a veteran, you have seen them fall . . . one moment pursuing life to the full, the next in eternity.

At Mayne Island, in common with thousands of other points across Canada, the U.S., the Empire, these deaths were remembered; by those who had returned, by those who had lost loved ones. Branch 84 of the Island Legion held the annual church parade at St. Mary Magdeline's church.

The branch fell in outside the church, where the president laid a wreath on the Lych Gate, which is the War Memorial of Branch 84. The members then proceeded to the church, where the church parade service, which was formulated by a number of the branch members, some of whom are now deceased, was read by the Rev. Mr. Gillett.

At 11.00 hours Last Post and Reveille were played, and the silence period was observed. V. Zala officiated at the organ. There A. Bowyer was color party, while there was a fair number of island residents at the service, but more could, and should, attend.

ADJOURNMENT
After the church parade, the branch members adjourned to the community hall for a get-together. Proceedings opened with the Silent toast, to those killed in action, and those who had fallen out since 1918, and special mention was made of two comrades who were at last year's gathering, but absent this year, the late Comrades Kay and Hall. Following this, the loyal toast was drunk, and proceedings were wide open, to discuss all those dirty nights we all remember, when all Hell seemed to break loose in our sector, but of which we subsequently read . . . "The rest of the front was quiet".

The meeting, to have been held at Saturna, had to be unavoidably postponed, and will be held at a date to be announced later. The new building, too, is progressing. It now has a roof. The next big job will be the flooring. If you feel that you can give a hand, contact the secretary at Gulf 14J. . . . If you cannot give a hand, contact him just the same. people relied on small gas powered boats, rowboats and sail, to communicate between Saturna and Vancouver Island. Later the C.P.R. boats Otter and Queen City paid regular weekly trips, weather permitting. It sometimes required two days to travel from Saturna to Victoria, she recalls. "We often had to stay overnight at Ganges and then travel to Victoria the following day."

"Mail delivery was once a week and when the boat came we had a holiday from school. The arrival of the boat was the big event in those days and all gathered around to welcome it."

Her childhood memories are filled with thoughts of waiting for the

STATIONED AT GANGES

VISITORS ARE IMPRESSED BY POLICE LAUNCH DURING VISIT TO WHARF HERE

First vessel of the name of Sidney arrived on Saturday afternoon to be thrown open to public inspection. Second Sidney will not be seen in the Island port until next spring.

On Saturday afternoon a small number of local residents inspected the R.C.M.P., Sidney, police launch stationed at Ganges, under the command of Cpl. S. G. H. Smith.

The vessel was decked out with flags and visitors were met at the dock by one of the five crew members.

The police boat is a complete, small ship, constructed in Vancouver and worth in the region of $150,000. There is accommodation for the crew and facilities are provided for meals and sleeping aboard. The fore cabin sleeps three while the cabin aft provides accommodation for the skipper and engine, with a desk and compact office accommodation.

The immaculate paint work and equipment are reminiscent of a naval vessel.

The cabin is provided with two radios, radar unit and fathometer in addition to the conventional control system.

TWIN DIESELS

The Sidney is powered by twin diesels in an engine room occupying a substantial part of the ship. A third engine provides power for the electrical system while the main engines are idle. Cabins are heated by a hot water system and hot water is also available for the wash basins and showers.

Paintings Hung In Island Anglican Church In 70th Year

As a gift to the parish of Salt Spring Island, and to commemorate the 70th anniversary of the founding of St. Mark's church, the presentation of a collection of reproductions of famous paintings has been made by W. M. Palmer. The reproductions, which include: "The Presentation of Christ in the Temple", "The Resurrection", and "The Ascension", were the work of the late A. Palmer, father of W. M. Palmer, who was applied art instructor in the Sheffield schools over 60 years ago.

The gift was received by Archdeacon G. H. Holmes, at a regular meeting of the Salt Spring Anglican church committee held in the parish hall, Ganges, on Thursday. The paintings will be divided between the three island churches.

Co-incidentally, it was also the occasion for the presentation of a casualty, on behalf of the church committee, to W. M. Palmer. An accompanying letter, signed by Archdeacon Holmes and the church committee, read in part: "The members of the church committee have long felt how much we appreciate your untiring work on behalf of the church on Salt Spring Island and would like to take this opportunity of showing, in a tangible way, an expression of their gratitude for all you have done in a voluntary way for the work of the church".

Mr. Palmer has been secretary of the committee for a number of years, is secretary-treasurer of the Anglican cemetery and was at one time a warden of St. Mark's church. He will continue in these offices, but the presentation was made with best wishes for health and happiness in his new home.

Following the presentations, tea was served by Mrs. Holmes and Mrs. Palmer.

SIDNEY VISITORS

Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Lawson of Sidney, have been spending a few days at Wildwood Convalescent Home, while they have been visiting relations and old friends on the island. They expect to return to Sidney on Tuesday.

TWO MEN ARE STRANDED ON ISLAND

James L. Barber, 2417 Cadboro Bay Road and Kenneth Jackson of Victoria spent a chilly unexpected night out on November 8. The pair were hunting crabs on Sidney Island and were about to return when the motor on their small craft caught fire and left them stranded on the island for the night.

R.C.M.P. received a call that the couple were long overdue. A search was instituted when word was received that the couple had been taken ashore by a fisherman who had been to the island to inspect his crab traps.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kaye Plan Make Their Home At Ganges

A pretty wedding was solemnized on Saturday afternoon in St. George's church, Ganges, when Archdeacon G. H. Holmes united in marriage Carol Frances Allingham, daughter of Mr. Allingham, Mexico, and Mrs. Allingham, Edmonton, and Albert Raymond Kaye, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Kaye, Ganges.

The attractive, fair-haired bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a pale blue nylon over net ballerina-length dress, fashioned with bouffant skirt and matching bolero. Her short veil was held in place with a floral coronet and she carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Gail Allingham, Campbell River, who chose a copper-colored brocade dress with matching bolero and matching feathered bandeau. Her bouquet was of rust colored chrysanthemums. Best man was Chester Reynolds, uncle of the groom.

Guild Finalizes Bazaar Plans

Monthly meeting of St. Margaret's Guild was held at the Galiano home of Mrs. J. D. Moore on Wednesday, Nov. 11 when co-hostesses were Mesdames N. E. Fletcher and M. Becklund.

Letters were read from Mrs. A. Cox of Victoria and Mrs. J. F. Bayfield of Vancouver. A contribution of $5 was received for the cemetery fund.

The guild sent $10 to each of the following: the Salvation Army, the Unitarian Society and the Central City Mission.

Plans for the annual bazaar were finalized and Mrs. D. A. New was named general convener for the catering at the reception of the Colvill-Riddell wedding, in December.

Vice-president Mrs. R. Hopbarn was in the chair in the absence of president, Mrs. A. Ordenberger.

The December meeting will be held at Green Water, the home of Mrs. E. C. Ketchum.

Pottery Studio Opened In Sidney By Talented Couple

By FRANK KIRBY

Specializing in ceramics, wood-carving and painting, two newcomers to Sidney are offering classes in pottery at their home on Admirals Road. They are Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert McLellan. The newly-opened studio offers a wide variety of exhibits, including many which have gained awards at various exhibitions.

The couple have many years of experience in making pottery and have taken several prizes at the Calgary Stampede with their work. Last year they won four first prizes and three seconds for their various ceramics, wheel and floral work.

Mr. and Mrs. McLellan are in the process of opening a studio which they call Gilmar studios after the first part of each of their names. It is their intention to open a studio to teach the art of ceramics and wheel work. Being of an agreeable nature they are quite willing to work with people interested in learning pottery at any hour. They do close shop on Thursday, like all good people they have to have one day off. Those interested in learning the art of pottery can contact the couple and find all the details from them. Gilmar studios also sell pottery and have quite a display to greet you when entering the door.

Pottery is the first art that man conquered, learning the craft from the necessity to make containers for his own food.

The basis of all pottery is clay.

QUICK CURE

The two men were discussing family matters.

"Your wife used to be terribly nervous. Now she's cool and composed as a cucumber. What cured her?"

"The doctor did. He told her that her kind of nervousness was natural because of advancing age."

Clay of various types is used. The couple are experimenting with local clays and they hope through mixing with Mexican and Indian clays they will have a superior product. The clay is left to soak after digging and made to a wet soupy mixture which is screened through a 60 mesh wire and then hung in a cloth sack to dry. When nearly dry it is placed into a drying bed, made of plaster of paris, which draws out all the moisture. From there it is placed on a wedging block and continually worked to mix all molecules together and eliminate all air pockets. When it reaches the consistency comparable to plasticine it is ready to use on the potter's wheel.

POTTER'S WHEEL

When it is placed on the potter's wheel, after centre is found, the clay has moisture added to it to make it more workable. If a vase is desired the centre is gouged out while the wheel is spinning. The fingers all have to be used to keep the top level and the sides upright while the gouging takes place. Here the individuality of the craftsman takes place. He has to know the right

SOME THOUGHTS ON ARMISTICE

(By GRAY CAMPBELL)

He couldn't get a flight out of Calgary until Monday, so he made a reservation on the Canadian from Banff to Vancouver. Years ago he had travelled on trains from Halifax to British Columbia, from Ontario to California, in day coaches, tour-gage cars, b-l-rs, upper berths and bedrooms. Here was a chance to ride on a prestige train.

Gray Campbell Remember the t-e trains in the twenties and thirties? The day coaches had been filled with immigrants, lumberjacks, homesteaders and salesmen. In the tourist cars they used a little stove to cook up meals. The standard coaches were often empty and there was always room in the observation car to write a letter or read. The diner was generally deserted for everyone grabbed off at 10-minute stops to jump sandwiches and coffee. At the rear of the train some nabob travelled in solitary state.

BLIND BAGGAGE
During the depression most of the red-blooded types were riding the freights or the blind baggage on fast trains. Then they started those not the modernistic form with the abstract design.

Moulds of various designs and shapes are made from plaster of paris. Liquid clay is poured into the forms and, through absorption by the plaster of paris, within ten to 30 minutes enough of the clay has formed around the cast to pour out the surplus liquid from the centre. The clay in the mould is left to dry. When dry the mould is ready for another lot of clay. The mould is good for about 100 casts and then cannot be used again as it becomes dead and will no longer absorb the moisture. Mr. and Mrs. McLellan hope to produce about 70 moulds in the next two weeks for the students that will be attending classes.

When the moulds are finished they are placed into an electric kiln in which the heat is gradually raised over a period of 12 hours until it reaches a peak of 1,900 degrees fahrenheit when a pyrometric cone melts and shuts the heat off. Another 12 hours are required to let the pots cool off gradually.

GLAZING
Following this, glazing takes place, which is actually ground glass, applied in a liquid form. Various coats and applications are given to give different effects. When the pottery is placed in the kiln again the various oxides in the glaze mixture explode like miniature volcanoes thus causing the individual patterns cent-mile excursions and brought out all the old rolling stock to take the restless crowds. If you walked into an excursion car the smell of orange peel and stale air would hit you and an open window would invite a cinder in the eye. It was almost as bad as a harvester special.

The war changed it quickly. More people travelled, not only on the cushions but they filled the berths and bedrooms. And through the history of railroading there were the wonderful porters, colored men of gentle breeding with a standard of education often superior to the average traveller although they were kind enough to hide it.

Well, a train is a train and there couldn't be that much change, perhaps the coupling would improve for smoother trips. Maybe the air conditioning was better and certainly they should have licked the dust and soot.

He climbed on at Banff, usual procedure. Everyone looked fresh and smartly dressed on the platform as they shot pictures of Rundle, Sulphur and the ranges in the distance. Dress and accents were certainly not local.

BOAT TRAIN
"You are boarding a boat train," said a friend, "most of the passengers are catching a ship at Vancouver."

The train slipped into motion with a whisper and he began looking for his lower berth. The corridor led past doors of roomettes and bedrooms for two. Tucked away at the front of the car were four sections of berths and two small washrooms. This is a Manor car.

The train seemed empty as he walked back through two Chateau cars with duplex roomettes, bedrooms and drawing room. Each car had a few ordinary berths as an afterthought.

The old-time trains consisted of cars they called "Twelve and Ones", twelve sections of berths and one drawing room or "T" and "R" cars consisting of drawing room, two bedrooms and eight sections. At the end of the car a large washroom accommodated all the dishevelled characters who crawled out of the uppers and lowers. Here politics and market prices and crops were discussed. The latest jokes were carried coast to coast.

Certainly things had changed. There wasn't any gathering spot for the males. He reached the last car which has a drawing room, bedrooms, a bar, lounge and the dome. And here, indeed, were the passengers.

They were from New Zealand, Australia and New South Wales. Many had come over on the Queen Elizabeth from England and were taking the Orca at Vancouver for home. The lounge was more than crowded, it was jammed, and so were the steps leading to the dome. In fact there was a continual scramble for the 24 seats and a grumbling that everyone could not be seated there at once.

NOT DISPUTED

Through the prairies there had been order and decorum. But for the mountain run the passengers were like excited children. A man from the States stood to operate his camera and lost his place to a tough Australian with the eyes and look of a hard rock miner. The point, after a few words, was not disputed. Music is piped through the train with a choice of popular and classical. A New Zealander who has been crossing Canada since 1921 in this fashion wondered why there were white porters who, he thought, lacked the charm and efficiency of the colored boys.

Robert Streeter from Alabama was the porter in the Manor car. He had lived in England while serving in the American Army, now daddy of Vancouver. His old Daddy taught him to take people as he found them, there were good and bad in every race. And he finds the people very good indeed.

Mr. Streeter explained the presence of the white porters. The C.P.R. has been in the habit of visiting Nashville each year to select screen and hire young men for porter jobs, mostly from the universities. A former porter is today a specialist in surgery in Toronto. The success of these men in other fields might make an impressive list. But lately the railway has not been able to fill its quota. The Canadian has a large staff of about 30, including porters for the day coaches as all seats are reserved.

The train does not stop at lunch rooms. There are three sitting cars for dinner. But in addition it has a news agent and a coffee shop with another dome. The service is personal and pleasant, the staff proud of their train.

Travel by Canadian can be a happy experience, quite a change when compared to a railway journey before the streamlined era by Budd of Philadelphia. Which reminds me it would be nice to take a certain war bride on a train again. Her first experience was embarrassing. Coming off a convoy and boarding a sleeper at Halifax she was uncertain about preparing for bed. The porter, pointed down the car and said "washroom". She joined a lady with a child, undressed, washed, brushed her teeth, used the towels and then passed.

"Where are the other girls?" she asked.

"They are in the washroom, this is my compartment," was the reply. That couldn't happen on the Canadian.

Vernon Sets The Pattern Whether It Be Hair Or Habits

By RALPH KENDALL

"Just call me Vernon," he said. "It's actually my middle name but everyone calls me Vernon."

"All right, Vernon," I replied. "And now tell me all about your new hairdressing salon."

I had stepped out of the brilliance of the morning sunshine into the "Flame-pink" and "Spruce-green" shade of the newly-opened hairdressing shop at Royal Oak, to be confronted by a blonde giant who turned out to be the proprietor. He knew me because I had telephoned in advance to say that I was calling, and I recognized him from a photograph I had seen so introductory were unnecessary, and that's how the above dialogue came about. However, as the merest formality, we did exchange pleasantries about the weather before getting down to the business of "woman's crowning glory," as the poets have described it.

"As far as hair is concerned, mine's a sort of 'rags-to-riches' success story," Vernon went on, speaking with only the slightest trace of an accent to indicate that

English was to him a second language. "When I came to Victoria about four years ago I had my abilities, but very little money. Now I have a thriving business downtown, and two days ago I opened this salon."

I asked him where he came from originally and he told me Copenhagen. But he said that he had worked in London for a number of years at Raymond's famous "May-fair Salon," and while there had won a number of trophies at various exhibitions. He also worked for a time in Eastern Canada and the United States, but now, like so many people, he had found that Lower Vancouver Island had sufficient charms to make it his homeland.

"I suppose that you could say the secret of my success is that I try to give a client something different. For instance, if a lady comes in to me for the first time and tells me usually she parts her hair this way—or that way—then I do as she wishes and style it so. But next time when she comes—and there most often is a next time

VERNON

"I say to her, 'This time I am going to do so-and-so with your hair,' and she agrees with me and I style the hair to suit the person."

"Your clients like you to boss them around?" I asked.

SOMETHING DIFFERENT

"They like something different and they like me to suggest it. If I don't do something different, what's the good of working? I might just as well be a plumber, or something."

This point of view was substantiated by Mrs. R. B. Ditchburn, who had made the journey right across town to come to Vernon's new salon.

"It's much pleasanter here than downtown, and just look at the parking space we've got," Vernon said. "The ladies don't mind the 20-minute run out because it's easier than trying to find somewhere to park in town," he went on.

"But that's not the whole reason," interjected Mrs. Ditchburn. "The most important thing to me is that I am a satisfied customer. These things like parking do count, of course, but we women have to have satisfaction in things like hairdressing, then we'll come out."

"Be careful," laughed Ethel Musgrave, Vernon's assistant, "or he'll get a swelled head and we won't be able to do a thing with him."

Mrs. Ditchburn has been going to Vernon for about three years so it would seem that she is qualified to act as spokeswoman for satisfied customers.

Ethel Musgrave has worked for him for about three years. She likes her job and she would seem to be the one to give him a testimonial as to his workmanship. She worked as a hairdresser previously but had to virtually re-learn the job in order to get into Vernon's way of working—to get into his individuality.

Apart from styling, one of the methods he uses is one that is popular in Europe, known as the "steam cut," whereby the hair is lightly steamed to induce any natural tendency it may have to wave or curl. It is then cut in a style which will best fit the natural waviness, thus enabling the lady to do up her own hair to suit the occasion, whether it be an informal afternoon tea, or a dressy dinner date.

On the question of dress, one of Vernon's clients told him that now he is out in the country she needn't dress up to come for her appointment. She could just hop into her car in slacks and a sweater. Whereas previously, being the wife of an important executive, she wouldn't have dreamt of going in to town so informally attired. So she, too, had her reasons for liking the new locale of the shop and she, too, didn't mind taking the trip.

As an innovation, Vernon stays open late on Thursday evenings, principally to cater to the housewife who has young children and can't leave them during the day. This arrangement seems to be appreciated and it is probably the beginning of a trend. As Mrs. Ditchburn put it, "I didn't think that Friday night shopping would catch on in Victoria; I thought we were conservative. But it has caught on and this Thursday night hairdressing could also be the start of a regular habit."

A barber shop operated by Irvin Doud is also contained within the neat white-painted building which once housed the local branch of one of the large banks, and above the shops Vernon has a delightful apartment, guarded by two savage Chihuahua dogs—well, they looked savage to me in spite of them both being only half-pint size. The walls are hung with colorful modern paintings which Vernon has executed himself. I think executed is the right word, although I couldn't swear to it because I'm no authority on matters concerning modern painting. Anyway, they looked colorful even if I couldn't understand them. The house was really the reason for the extension of the business because Vernon bought it as a home some time ago and it was only an afterthought that he decided to move his business out there and leave the downtown salon for his son, Vernon junior, to run.

Vernon, it seems, is not only setting the ladies' hair but he is setting the pattern of his hairdressing habits too, by his Thursday night sessions. He likes working outside the precincts of the city and his clients like visiting the countryside, so it looks as if he's set fair for a period of further expansion.

Overtime Parking

Appearing in Sidney police court Friday, Newton D. Cameron, Victoria, charged with overtime parking at Patricia Bay airport, was fined $5 and $5.50 costs.

Roy Hilburn Pearson, Fifth St., Sidney, found to be driving without due care and attention, was assessed $25 and $3.50 costs and his license suspended for 30 days.

DISCUSS FIRE HAZARDS

Association Opposes Fish Restocking Plan For Lake

Prospect Lake and District Community Association is opposed to the destruction of fish in Prospect Lake and restocking.

On Monday evening members heard a report by D. R. Hearn, fisheries biologist on the proposal. The water would be chemically treated to destroy the fish in the lake. After a period of time during which the chemical would dissipate a new stock of fish would be introduced. A similar procedure has already been undertaken at Duran Lake.

OCEAN AVE. RECEIVING TOP COAT

Ocean Ave. in Sidney is receiving a top coating of gravel which will provide an adequate surface for the coming winter.

The roadbed will be allowed to settle over the winter before a black top will be applied, a government spokesman stated.

The association voted against the project.

NOT FINAL

The voice of the association is not the final settlement. Mr. Hearn explained that other organizations in other districts will be invited to express an opinion. The lake is open to fishing by the general public and the provincial government feels that a wider expression of opinion is justified.

The steadily increasing population of the island will ultimately bring about a decrease in the quantity of fish in the lake, suggested the speaker.

A letter from Defence Minister G. R. Pearkes, V.C., explained that he was still not fully acquainted with the postal problems here. The association will outline the pleas it has already sounded for integration of the southern island into a single-rate mail area.

DELEGATES

David Wright, W. S. Norrington and A. H. MacDonald were delegates to Saanich Fire Department on Saturday. The three members visited Fire Chief Joseph Law at No. 1 Fire Hall and discussed their problems of fire protection.

A sequel to the visit will be the appearance of the fire chief at the next meeting of the association to speak on fire protection problems generally.

Annual Meeting Of Sidney Scouts And Cubs Committee

Scouting in B.C. has increased 176 per cent within the last year, stated G. D. Frizzell, executive member of the provincial and national council of the B.C. association, in his address to the annual meeting of the Sidney group committee on Friday, Nov. 13.

Mr. Frizzell announced that plans for reorganization of the movement on south Vancouver Island are almost complete and the Greater Victoria region will be established on November 26. The purpose of the new region is to bring scouting closer to the boys. The regional committee will have authority on such matters as badges, so that badges can be awarded more quickly upon completion of qualifications. Previously authority was required from provincial headquarters with frequent delay. Mr. Frizzell stressed the need for a strong active group committee which is, in turn, dependent on the co-operation and enthusiasm of the parents who comprise the members.

Reports from the Scout group and the A and B Cub pack were read by the leaders. Number enrolled include 18 Scouts and 43 Cubs. The following officers were elected for the 1959-60 term: chairman, J. H. Crossley; vice-chairman, Robin Anderson; secretary, H. Smethurst; treasurer, Mrs. J. Flint; publicity and public relations, R. M. Anderson; ways and means, R. Montgomery; training and camp, Robin Anderson; quartermaster, Mrs. I. K. Laing.

HUNTERS URGED TO DONATE TO FOOD STALL

Successful hunters having deer or fowl beyond their needs are urged to donate it to the Surplus Food Stall for needy persons.

Mrs. E. Harper, 5685 Patricia Bay highway will accept any surplus food of any nature on behalf of the stall. Donors are invited to phone her at GR 4-1750 to arrange pick-up service for the food.

Sea Fun Motel Is Purchased

G. D. Frizzell, well known resident of Lochside Drive, Sidney, has purchased Sea Fun Motel, also on Lochside Drive, from Mrs. Agnes Rochester, who has operated it for several months. Mr. Frizzell will assume operation of the motel, formerly known as Cedarwood Bungalows, on December 1.

PICTURES ENJOYED BY COUNCIL

Central Saanich municipal council had a full attendance of members to the Nov. 10 meeting, when they were shown a moving picture demonstrating the qualities of asbestos-cement pipe.

The council expressed interest in the picture in view of the possibility of using the product for the projected new water system, on which ratepayers of the municipality will vote on Dec. 17.

Sanscha Chair Fund Reaches $427 Mark

By VIVIAN COWAN

With the recent addition of a cheque for $100 from the teachers' convention committee, and one from the I.O.E. for 32.36, the SANSCHA hall chair fund now stands at $427.13, and plans are being made to convert the cash to chairs immediately, so they will be available for winter activities in the hall.

Since the Sidney P.T.A. took over the sponsorship of the chair fund many donations have been made, one from a lady and gentleman in Sidney who prefer "not to have their names in the paper, please", but who wrote a cheque for $100, "because you're all working so hard, and chairs are so badly needed".

Profit from the dance held in September contributed $67.45 to the fund which had already received contributions from the Sidney Day booths of the Canadian Legion, the Legion Auxiliary and the P.T.A., and the $4.30 from Sidney Day.

CONTRIBUTIONS

Saanich Peninsula Art Centre forwarded a cheque for $50 as their contribution from the symphony concerts, and Teen Town gave $20 from its Sidney Day work.

Also gratefully received have been donations from Mrs. G. D. Phelps and Mrs. J. Skinner.

The suggestion was made recently that if every family in the area covered by SANSCHA could donate the value of one chair, it would not be long before the tedious Operation Chair would be unnecessary every time an event was held in the hall.

Any member of Sidney P.T.A., or SANSCHA will gladly pass on to the chair fund committee, a cheque made out to "SANSCHA Hall Chair Fund".

ST. AUGUSTINE'S W.A. BUYS TABLES FOR USE IN HALL

Regular monthly meeting of St. Augustine's afternoon branch of the W.A. to missions was held at the home of Mrs. A. W. Hazlehurst on Friday, Nov. 13. The president, Mrs. Herbert Smith, was in the chair and opened the meeting with prayer.

A letter was received from Mrs. Wedd, U.T.O. secretary, thanking the members for their kind wishes for a speedy recovery.

Three new tables are needed for the various affairs held by the branch in St. Augustine's hall. It was successfully moved by Mrs. Kelly that the matter be put in the hands of Mr. Morris to supply them.

The treasurer asked those wishing boxes of religious cards and boxes of serviettes to give their orders as soon as possible.

Mrs. Kelly, prayer partner, read a letter which advised her this branch had been given a partner in the name of Miss Geraldine Torrance, of Toronto Anglican Training College, Toronto.

Mrs. Smith announced the purchase of bright individual maps for use in the mission study book, thus making it more interesting.

Mrs. Hazlehurst moved that arrangements be made for the time and place for the branch's corporate communion held on each St. Andrew's day.

Canon F. C. Vaughan-Birch announced the time of 10 a.m., and that it will be held in St. Andrew's church, Sidney.

The Canon read an invitation from Mrs. Vaughan-Birch inviting the branch to hold their next meeting, on December 9, in the rectory. The invitation was accepted. It will be the annual meeting.

The meeting adjourned with the W.A. closing service, followed by tea and a short social time.

The hostesses were Mrs. Hazlehurst, Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. S. Hoddinott.

Mrs. E. Casson was in charge of teas and was assisted by Mrs. P. Segalierba, Mrs. T. Marjonavitch, Mrs. L. Bidinost, Mrs. A. R. Bader, Miss P. Calvert and Miss I. Rooke. Maj. J. B. Scardiff was at the door.

The next card party will be held in the Legion hall on November 28, and the Christmas card party is scheduled for December 19. The drawing for many lovely prizes will be held at this time, and tickets for this raffle are already being circulated.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

The annual Legion children's Christmas party is to be held on the afternoon of December 12, and all members will be receiving forms to be filled out and returned before that date.
